Sunset Poem

Sunset after a long hard day, with the hot sun going away,
with light colors spreading across the sky

Sunset

wait, it's going away!

don't go I say!

Wait!

before you know it's gone...but then you remember you will see it tomorrow.

Lilac California Ella

The breeze by the island sunset

 Watch the sand glisten

 Don't talk

Just listen

With a secret so shallow

 That no one can see

That an island sunset

 Came to see me

 I talked and talked

But he had no clue

Because smiling and winking

was all he could do

People,
People make mistakes
and can get an unfortunate test score
People can spill their drinks and say things they don't mean
People,
People can make spelling mistakes
And can be devastated
People can still be joyous
And can be free as a bird
Mistakes don't ruin you
People can learn from mistakes
Mistakes are for the better

First hit

A snowball flew threw the air

Fast and cunning like

Like a bullet

Immediately it hits its target

Everything stops

The target turns around

The targets me

That was the first hit in the battle

I thought right before my arm launched backwards

And I let go

The Ballet- Annabelle

You're anxious and you're scared,
Nervous and afraid,
What will happen when you get on the stage?
The curtain comes up,
You're excited and jumpy,
What will happen next,
You do not know.

It is dark,
And you can't see any faces,
You dance to the rhythm,
You dance to the music,
Ballet slippers touching the stage,
Enjoy the moment while it lasts,
It's over in three minutes,
But it feels like three seconds,
So enjoy the moment while it lasts,
Have a lot of fun,
And have a blast.

The dance is over,
The music stops,
The audience claps,
The curtain drops,
It rises one last time and you take a bow,
More applause as the curtain comes down,
You exit the stage,
And retreat to the wings.

You climb down the stairs,
Which lead to backstage,
You leave backstage during intermission,
And when intermission is over you watch the rest of the show,
As you're leaving you wish you could do it again,
And you can,
Tomorrow,
After tomorrow you get two more times,
And you're excited for tomorrow,
A new day and another performance,
Tomorrow.

Fire trees falling like buildings being wrecked
Fire like thunder beyond Getting louder and louder until
The fire gets higher
It strikes
Trees dying second after second
The hero comes and wipes
The fire away
Spring after spring
Deer after deer they Prance through smelling what's to come
Birds singing
Flowers blooming
The family tree is renewing
